Chicago, April 11.—(U.P.)—Fires and explosions harassed the city and suburbs today, injuring eight firemen and exacting property damage estimated at $325,000.

Two major blazes gutted a five and ten cent store and destroyed the Fairview Kennel Club, a dog racing track that had been operated until recently by the "Bugs" Moran gang.

Celluloid goods, paints, polishes and other combustibles generated gases that caused a series of explosions as flames swept a Kresge five and ten store on the north side. The first explosion, which occurred after the fire had smoldered for a considerable time in the basement, sent billows of flames 20 feet into the street.

Thirty firemen were thrown from their feet by a second blast just as they jumped from apparatus in front of the building.

A 4-11 alarm was sounded as efforts of firemen to control the flames were thwarted by fierceness of the fire, fed by materials that burned like tinder.

Fifty couples, dancing in the Limehouse Cafe on the second floor of an adjoining building, were driven to the street by the dense clouds of acrid smoke and terror at the blasts. The smoke pall overhung the district for several miles and drew thousands of spectators.

The eight firemen were injured at the five and ten cent store blaze, either from the explosions, from flames, or from gas and smoke.

The entire interior of the structure was wrecked and damage of $75,000 done before the fire could be brought under control.

Origin of the blaze that reduced the Fairview grandstand and dog sheds to ashes had not been determined. The blaze was discovered late last night and today only smoldering ruins remained.

Damage was placed at $150,000 by August Sikowski, owner, who said he had not renewed the lease of the Moran gang. Sikowski could give no motive for incendiarism.

Sparks started a half dozen roof fires on nearby dwellings, but these were extinguished.

A federal injunction and raids by state's attorney's officers closed the race track last summer.

More than 100 residents of a 34-apartment building on the south side were driven into the streets by a fire that started in the boiler room. Repeated alarms brought scores of firemen to the scene. Several apartments were badly damaged before the flames were put out.

A wandering prairie fire near Waukegan, north shore suburb, spread to a $65,000 home and burned it to the ground, imperiling a dozen other residences and farm buildings. A $10,000 barn also was burned. Firemen were handicapped by lack of water and resorted to wells.

Still another blaze destroyed a $25,000 residence in Evanston, farther south on the north shore.

WILL ROGERS JUST CAN'T DECIDE WHAT HE IS TO DO

Beverly Hills, Calif., April 11.—(U.P.)—Will Rogers, famous humorist, said today that he is unable to decide whether to run for governor in California, Oklahoma or Nevada.

Informed that a bunch of California democrats had banded together to urge him to enter the gubernatorial race, the noted wit inquired:

"How many democrats make a bunch?"

"Two," he was told.

"I'm awful glad it was the democrats who picked me," Rogers said, "because sure would be exclusive. I'm sure to be nominated. All the republicans are running. However, I was sort of figuring on running in Oklahoma, and there's Nevada to be considered."

Rogers said he really didn't want any office right now.

"I just want to save up my money," he said, "and then if I get elected I can afford to take the job."

MINNEAPOLIS POLICE

Minneapolis, April 11.—(U.P.)—Police today asked the indictment of L. C. Wahl, alleged New York pugilist, for the murder of Sam Miller, Minneapolis and Kansas City gangster and alleged agent of a $1,000,000 alcohol ring.

Efforts to free Wahl on a writ of habeas corpus were thwarted by the police to give them more time to present their case to the grand jury.

Wahl was arrested after talking by long distance to a New York number which was traced to Solly Weisman, one-time Kansas City racketeer and former friend of Miller.

St. Paul, Minn., April 11.—(U.P.)—Rev. William F. Diehl, Faribault pastor, suspected by dry agents of prohibition violations in a secret double life, was at liberty today while a federal grand jury considered disposal of his case.

Diehl told his story to the grand jury yesterday after he had been arrested in a liquor raid. Federal agents sought to connect him with the operation of the hotel where the raid took place.

Claiming to be the victim of unfortunate circumstances, Diehl waived immunity and told his side of the story to the jury. He was released to the custody of his attorney pending a report by the grand jury today.

"I am the innocent victim of circumstances," Diehl said, explaining that he went to the hotel where the raid occurred in an attempt to sell furniture for a member of his congregation at Faribault.

He explained that a bottle of liquor found in his grip had been put there without his knowledge and that the drinks alleged to have been on the table before him had been placed there while he was out of the room.

No bill was reported to have been returned by the grand jury in his case.

LORD DEWAR,
NOTED DISTILLER,
DIES SUDDENLY

East Grinstead, Sussex, England, April 11.—(U.P.)—Lord Dewar, head of the great Demar distilling interests, died suddenly at his home today.

Lord Dewar, who became first Baron of Homestead in 1919, had been ill at his home for about three weeks but his death was entirely unexpected.

He was widely known for his inextinguishable supply of epigrams which kept all London amused for years. Lord Dewar was one of the most popular men-about-town. He was a bachelor.

He was born Thomas Robert Dewar, at Perth on Jan. 6, 1864. With his father and brother he directed the John Dewar & Sons distillery interests and, in the frenzy of early post-war days the firm held its own. Later it became a part of the Buchanan-Dewar combine under direction of the world-wide Scotch whiskey trust.

Lord Dewar was managing director of the John Dewar & Sons firm; director of the Buchanan-Dewar group and director of the Distillers Co., Ltd., of Edinburgh (the Scotch trust).

PLEDGES FRANCE AND ITALY TO CERTAIN PRINCIPLES FORMU-LATED AT PARLEY
By WEBB MILLER

London, April 11.—(U.P.)—The five-power conference which convened January 21 to limit the world's great navies will end its sessions late next week, probably Thursday, without having achieved its purpose but with its chief delegates "very well satisfied."

A treaty limiting the navies of the United States, Great Britain and Japan until 1936, and pledging France and Italy to certain principles formulated at the conference, but not to limitation will be signed at a plenary session next Thursday if drafting of the past can be completed by that date.

"We are very well satisfied," Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald told the press. "It is a substantial step in the direction toward which we have been striving in the face of difficulties which at times appeared almost insurmountable."

"We are most grateful to the press for the way in which they helped if not only by what they said, but also by what they left unsaid."

An official communique said a plenary session also would be held Monday at which the reports of the first committee would be received.

The heads of the delegations decided furthermore to appoint a committee of experts under chairmanship of the secretary general of the conference, Sir Maurice Hankey, will assist the jurists.

The arrangements were made at a meeting of the five chief delegates at St. James palace this morning, where the chairman reported the results of recent conferences between various delegates.

The French and Italians throughout felt disinclined to sign a treaty tying them to a limit in naval tonnage unless they could get certain concessions.

However, agreement on several phases of the naval question has been reached and the French and Italians will sign the treaty with the understanding they are bound only to those phases not referring to limitation.

They agree to the restriction of the use of submarines. No submarine can be used to attack a submarine merchant vessel during a storm or when all the crew and passengers cannot reach shore or another ship in safety.

The French and Italians also agree to limiting the size of submarines to 2,000 tons each, with a maximum of 5-inch guns—except each nation may have three submarines between 2,000 and 3,000 tons bearing 6-inch guns.

The Washington treaty definition of airplane carriers will be extended to include vessels of less than 10,000 tons.

The agreements to which the United States, Britain and Japan will be committed—known as the three-power treaty—are more binding and mean immediate action in limitation. The United States will agree to scrap two

LIGHT WINTER SNOWFALL WITH EARLY SPRING WEATHER
INCREASES HAZARDS

Madison, Wis., April 11.—(U.P.)—Strict preventative measures were carried out in northern and central Wisconsin today by fire wardens to prevent spring forest fires. The light winter snowfall, early spring weather and high winds were regarded as increasing the hazards, together with the dry condition of timber and underbrush in the various forest districts.

Small blazes were reported in the vicinity of Soperton, where forest fires threatened to destroy that village last fall. At Rhinelander, and in Monroe county, small blazes were reported while at Crandon, two men were fined for starting fires without permission.

All deputies operating under A. B. Kirkpatrick, district forest ranger at Rhinelander, have been ordered to patrol their sectors vigilantly and tower men were on duty in the virgin and second growth timber tracts owned by the state in northern Wisconsin.

Meanwhile reports that unemployed men had started fires near Black River Falls, reported them and then asked for work fighting the same blazes, were declared by District Forest Ranger Earl Hillecker, to be without credence.

battleships and Britain four to gain equality in naval strength. They also will agree, together with Japan, to demilitarize one battleship each and use it as a training ship. The battle fleets then will be brought down to 525,000 tons, 525,000 tons and 315,000 tons, respectively—maintaining the 5-5-8 ratio established in 1922 at Washington.

The United States will eliminate the Florida, Utah and Wyoming from her war fleet; Britain will scrap the Tiger, Benbow, Emperor of India, Iron Duke and Marlboro; Japan will use the battle-cruiser Kono as a training ship, suit from the London conference that Little other actual reduction will be here Jan. 21. In fact, all three powers will have to build in certain branches of their navies to equal their new quotas.

France and Italy possibly will sign the battleship holiday clause—with a reservation they may be permitted to build 70,000 tons of battleships each if France considers herself in danger from the new German so-called "pocket battleships," a cruiser carrying big guns.

PETTING NECESSARY IN PROPER PLACE
BY PROPER PEOPLE

HUSBAND TRYING TO STEAL A KISS FROM HIS WIFE SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED

MODIFIED PETTING IS NECESSARY
IN EVERY DAY LIFE

Kansas City, Mo., April 11.—(U.P.)—The husband who tries to steal a kiss or "pet," provided he is making advances toward his legal wife, should be encouraged and not bantered and church people are advised to become frolicsome and indulge in love-making, spooning or just plain "necking," as the commoner members of the gentry would say.

A certain amount of petting in the "proper place and time and by the proper people," a classification which includes married couples and not adolescent youths, is necessary, said Mrs. Ida A. Etzenhouser, speaker before the Centennial Institute Conference of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints. The church conference is meeting at Independence, Kansas City suburb.

"Modified petting," said the speaker, who with her husband is a trained social worker of the denomination, "is necessary to determine whether there is a physical attraction between the two persons."

However, she believes that promiscuous love making is bad, not only for adolescent girls and boys, but for the older men and women.

"Petting is a physical stimulation based on the sense of touch," Mrs. Etzenhouser, a dominant type, explained. "When indulged in promiscuously, especially by adolescent boys and girls and boys, it can be productive of much harm."

HOOVER REQUEST FOR TARIFF AID FOR FARMER NEAR

Washington, April 11.—(U.P.)—President Hoover's request for a tariff revision to benefit agriculture seemed nearer than ever to realization today as the result of acceptance by house and senate conferees of the high senate agricultural rates.

The bill, however, has not been confined to limited revision of industrial schedules to benefit those in particular need of help, but raises such rates generally in the opinion of many democratic and independent republican senators. Some of these have indicated they will not vote for it if the debenture clause is omitted.

The conferees late yesterday disposed of the entire agricultural schedule, except long staples cotton and eggs. By approving the senate rates on farm products they gave agricultural interests the highest protective tariff they ever have enjoyed.

LARGE PIECES OF FLESH TORN

OF BUFFALO GIRL

Buffalo, N. Y., April 11.—(U.P.)—Five dogs were under observation at the Erie pound today as a result of the death of Phyllis Gottschalk, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gottschalk, whose mangled body was found in a field near her home in Mount Vernon late Wednesday. A sixth dog will be taken to the pound later today for observation.

Outstanding among the suspects is a large, thin, one-year-old police dog called "Wolf." Wolf is the property of a neighbor of the Gottschalks and is said to have played with the little girl on several occasions.

The girl's body was found Wednesday afternoon by two playmates. It was in a horrible condition, large pieces of flesh having been torn from thigh and shoulder. The report that she might have been criminally attacked was dispelled when an autopsy was performed upon the body and proved that the child had died of shock. Medical Examiner Dominicus, who performed the autopsy, said none but canine teeth could have torn the girl's body to such a degree.

The lake shore community in the vicinity of the killing was shocked by the death of little Phyllis and co-operated with authorities. The local branch of the S. P. C. A. received many requests from dog owners to have their dogs placed under observation.

One survivor said that all passengers saw the train approaching from some distance.

The driver slowed down as he neared the crossing to let the train pass, he said.

Suddenly the bus leaped forward directly in the path of the engine.

Whether the driver accidentally hit the accelerator instead of the brakes was not known. The driver was believed to have been killed in the crash. Injuries of some of the survivors were such that it was impossible to question them. Others were so excited and hysterical that they could not tell a coherent story of the accident.

The first accurate description of the crash was told by Mrs. P. N. Olguin, owner of a small jewelry store at Isleta Pueblo.

She described graphically the scene when the speeding train and the huge bus met at the crossing near where she was watching.

At the time she was planting a spring garden outside her home, she said.

"I watched the bus coming up the road," she said. "I watched it go by nearly every morning. This morning I stopped my work and turned to watch it until it was out of sight."

"As I followed the path of the bus, I saw it approaching the crossing. The train was coming down the tracks and the bus stopped at the crossing. I supposed it would wait until the train passed by."

"Suddenly the bus started to move again. The train was almost on it. I yelled but of course the driver could not hear me."

"I was about 100 yards away, and started to run toward the tracks. I saw a crash could not be averted."

"As the bus rolled on the tracks, the driver desperately threw it to one side in an attempt to avoid the crash. I saw the fireman in the locomotive grab for something inside the engine. I heard the brakes grind, but the train rolled on and the engine plowed through the bus."

"Bodies of people rolled from the bus as it was smashed in pieces."

The bus burst into flames. I heard one explosion, then another and then a third. The wreckage of the bus was enveloped in flames."

"The train came to a stop beyond the crossing with the brakes screeching. Passengers and crew began to pour from the train and run back along the tracks."

"There were bodies of the bus passengers scattered all along the tracks. The scene was terrible."

Albuquerque, N. M., April 11.—(U.P.)—Seventeen persons were believed to have perished today when a Santa Fe train struck a Pickwick-Greyhound bus near Albuquerque.

The exact toll could not be told because of the mangled conditions of the bodies of the victims.

Three of the dead were definitely identified. Remains of what undertakers believed were 14 other victims were brought to Albuquerque morgues. So badly burned and mangled were some of the remains that the undertakers were unable to determine the exact count until the passenger list of the bus is checked.

Eleven injured were in hospitals here, three of them unidentified and in such condition that they could not give their names.

Twenty-eight persons, including the driver, were on the bus.

Albuquerque, N. M., April 11.—(U.P.)—A heavy toll of life was taken in the collision of a fast Santa Fe mail train and a Pickwick Greyhound bus near here today.

Ten were known dead and seven were feared dying from their injuries shortly before noon.

Twenty-seven passengers left Los Angeles at midnight Wednesday on the bus. Not a single one escaped death or injury.

Identification of the dead and injured proceeded slowly because of the fact that no records were kept of the passengers.

Many of the dead were mangled. Articles of luggage and other marks of identification were destroyed by fire which broke out in the wreckage of the bus.

One survivor said that all passengers saw the train approaching from some distance.

5-Power Conference to End Its Sessions Late Next Week, Delegates Seem Satisfied

HAVE NOT ACHIEVED THE PURPOSE OF CALL

TREATY LIMITS NAVIES OF U. S., GREAT BRITAIN AND JAPAN UNTIL 1936

PLEDGES FRANCE AND ITALY TO CERTAIN PRINCIPLES FORMULATED AT PARLEY BY WEBB MILLER

London, April 11.—The five-power conference which convened January 21 to limit the world's great navies will end its sessions late next week, probably Thursday, without having achieved its purpose but with its chief delegates "very well satisfied."

A treaty limiting the navies of the United States, Great Britain and Japan until 1936, and pledging France and Italy to certain principles formulated at the conference, but not to limitation next Thursday if drafting of the past can be completed by that date.

"We are very well satisfied," Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald told the press. "It is a substantial step in the direction toward which we have been striving in the face of difficulties which at times appeared almost insurmountable."

"We are most grateful to the press for the way in which they helped if not only by what they said, but also by what they left unsaid."

An official communique said a plenary session also would be held Monday at which the reports of the first committee would be received.

The heads of the delegations decided furthermore to appoint a committee of experts under chairmanship of the secretary general of the conference, Sir Maurice Hankey, will assist the jurists.

The arrangements were made at a meeting of the five chief delegates at St. James palace this morning, where the chairman reported the results of recent conferences between various delegates.

The French and Italians throughout felt disinclined to sign a treaty tying them to a limit in naval tonnage unless they could get certain concessions.

However, agreement on several phases of the naval question has been reached and the French and Italians will sign the treaty with the understanding they are bound only to those phases not referring to limitation.

They agree to the restriction of the use of submarines. No submarine can be disabled or attacked a submarine merchant vessel during a storm or when all the crew and passengers cannot reach shore or another ship in safety.

The French and Italians also agree to limiting the size of submarines to 2,000 tons each, with a maximum of 5-inch guns—except each nation may have three submarines between 2,000 and 3,000 tons bearing 6-inch guns.

The Washington treaty definition of airplane carriers will be extended to include vessels of less than 10,000 tons.

The agreements to which the United States, Britain and Japan will be committed—known as the three-power treaty—are more binding and mean immediate action in limitation. The United States will agree to scrap two

6 SOLDIERS KILLED AND 30 HURT WHEN TRAIN JUMPS RAILS

Paris, April 11.—(U.P.)—Six soldiers were killed and 30 hurt today when a special military train carrying 500 reservists jumped the rails at the Jussey station in north-east France while traveling at full speed.

TO PREVENT SPRING FOREST FIRES IN NORTH

STRICT PREVENTATIVE MEASURES ADOPTED IN MINNESOTA AND WISCONSIN

LIGHT WINTER SNOWFALL WITH EARLY SPRING WEATHER INCREASES HAZARDS

Madison, Wis., April 11.—(U.P.)—Strict preventative measures were carried out in northern and central Wisconsin today by fire wardens to prevent spring forest fires. The light winter snowfall, early spring weather and high winds were regarded as increasing the hazards, together with the dry condition of timber and underbrush in the various forest districts.

Small blazes were reported in the vicinity of Soperton, where forest fires threatened to destroy that village last fall. At Rhineland, and in Monroe county, small blazes were reported while at Cranston, two men were fined for starting fires without permission.

All deputies operating under A. B. Kirkpatrick, district forest ranger at Rhineland, have been ordered to patrol their sectors vigilantly and tower men were on duty in the virgin and second growth timber tracts owned by the state in northern Wisconsin.

Meanwhile reports that unemployed men had started fires near Black River Falls, reported them and then asked for work fighting the same blazes, were declared by District Forest Ranger Earl Hillicker, to be without credence.

HOOVER REQUEST FOR TARIFF AID FOR FARMER NEAR

Washington, April 11.—(U.P.)—President Hoover's request for a tariff revision to benefit agriculture seemed nearer than ever to realization today as the result of acceptance by house and senate conferees of the high senate agricultural rates.

The bill, however, has not been confined to limited revision of industrial schedules to benefit those in particular need of help, but raises such rates generally in the opinion of many democratic and independent republican senators.

Some of these have indicated they will not vote for it if the debenture clause is omitted.

The conferees late yesterday disposed of the entire agricultural schedule, except long staples cotton and eggs. By approving the senate rates on farm products they gave agricultural interests the highest protective tariff they ever have enjoyed.

PETTING NECESSARY IN PROPER PLACE BY PROPER PEOPLE

HUSBAND TRYING TO STEAL A KISS FROM HIS WIFE SHOULD BE ENCOURAGED

MODIFIED PETTING IS NECESSARY IN EVERY DAY LIFE

Kansas City, Mo., April 11.—(U.P.)—The husband who tries to steal a kiss or "pet," provided he is making advances toward his legal wife, should be encouraged and not bantered and church people are advised to become frolicsome and indulge in lovemaking, spooning or just plain "necking," as the common members of the gentry would say.

A certain amount of petting in the "proper place and time and by the proper people," a classification which includes married couples and not adolescent youths, is necessary, said Mrs. Ida A. Etzenhouser, speaker before the Centennial Institute Conference of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints.

The church conference is meeting at Independence, Kansas City suburb.

"Modified petting," said the speaker, who with her husband is a trained social worker of the denomination, "is necessary to determine whether there is a physical attraction between the two persons."

However, she believes that promiscuous love making is bad, not only for adolescent girls and boys, but for the older men and women.

"Petting is a physical stimulation based on the sense of touch," Mrs. Etzenhouser, a dominant type, explained. "When indulged in promiscuously, especially by adolescent boys and girls and boys, it can be productive of much harm."

ADAM AND EVE STIR UP STORM IN CHICAGO CLUB

Chicago, April 11.—(U.P.)—Adam and Eve, turned out in the Garden of Eden in the dawn of time, are likely to be turned out of the Illinois Woman's Athletic club and with less ceremony.

This Adam and Eve are copper-hued (or maybe they're red, there's a difference of opinion) and hang on the walls of the Athletic club in an exhibit of paintings by Miss Valentine Vogel, St. Louis artist with modernistic tendencies.

The redskin Adam and Eve in Miss Vogel's much discussed painting have tossed all conventions and fig leaves to the wind and stand nude, gazing over a green sea—Eve facing this way and Adam the other.

Miss Vogel's reason for painting the first folks red and the sea green was "because I merely happened to like red figures against a green sky," she said. "And it's the least obscene picture I've ever painted."

Members of the Athletic club, however, express various opinions over teacups, and threaten to do something about it.

MINNEAPOLIS MAN KILLED AT WATAB

Little Falls, Minn., April 11.—(U.P.)—Struck by an eastbound Northern Pacific freight train at Watab last night, a man in whose pockets was found a letter to Thomas L. Jones, 2113 Minneapolis avenue, Minneapolis, died here today.

The man was brought here by a west bound passenger train and died a short time later. He was about 30 years old.

Until Morrison county and Benton county officials decide who has jurisdiction in the accident investigation, further action has been held up temporarily.

Senator Hiram Johnson Declines Chairmanship of Probe Committee

Washington, April 11.—(U.P.)—Senator Hiram Johnson, republican, California, today declined to serve as chairman of the senatorial campaign funds investigating committee.

In a letter to Vice President Curtis, who had appointed him to the post, Johnson said he was too busy with other senatorial committees to undertake the chairmanship of the investigating group.

4 BANDITS WITH MACHINE GUN ROB PIQUA BANK

Piqua, O., April 11.—(U.P.)—Four bandits, spraying adjoining buildings with machine gun and shot-gun fire today killed one man, injured two others and robbed the Citizens National Bank and Trust company of approximately $5,500.

5 DOGS TEAR GIRL'S BODY IN TERRIBLE SHAPE

MANGLED REMAINS OF 4-YEAR-OLD PHYLLIS GOTTSCHALK ARE FOUND

LARGE PIECES OF FLESH TORN FROM THIGH AND SHOULDER OF BUFFALO GIRL

Buffalo, N. Y., April 11.—(U.P.)—Five dogs were under observation at the Erie pound today as a result of the death of Phyllis Gottschalk, 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gottschalk, whose mangled body was found in a field near her home in Mount Vernon late Wednesday.

A sixth dog will be taken to the pound later today for observation.

Outstanding among the suspects is a large, thin, one-year-old police dog called "Wolf." Wolf is the property of a neighbor of the Gottschalks and is said to have played with the little girl on several occasions.

The girl's body was found Wednesday afternoon by two playmates. It was in a horrible condition, large pieces of flesh having been torn from thigh and shoulder. The report that she might have been criminally attacked was dispelled when an autopsy was performed upon the body and proved that the child had died of shock. Medical Examiner Dominicus, who performed the autopsy, said none but canine teeth could have torn the girl's body to such a degree.

The lake shore community in the vicinity of the killing was shocked by the death of little Phyllis and co-operated with authorities. The local branch of the S. P. C. A. received many requests from dog owners to have their dogs placed under observation.

Suddenly the bus leaped forward directly in the path of the engine. Whether the driver accidentally hit the accelerator instead of the brakes was not known. The driver was believed to have been killed in the crash. Injuries of some of the survivors were such that it was impossible to question them. Others were so excited and hysterical that they could not tell a coherent story of the accident.

The first accurate description of the crash was told by Mrs. P. N. Ogilvin, owner of a small jewelry store at Isleta Pueblo.

She described graphically the scene when the speeding train and the huge bus met at the crossing near where she was watching.

At the time she was planting a spring garden outside her home, she said.

"I watched the bus coming up the road," she said. "I watched it go by nearly every morning. This morning I stopped my work and turned to watch it until it was out of sight."

"As I followed the path of the bus, I saw it approaching the crossing. The train was coming down the tracks and the bus stopped at the crossing. I supposed it would wait until the train passed by."

"Suddenly the bus started to move again. The train was almost on it. I yelled but of course the driver could not hear me."

"I was about 100 yards away, and started to run toward the tracks. I saw a crash could not be averted."

"As the bus rolled on the tracks, the driver desperately threw it to one side in an attempt to avoid the crash."

"I saw the fireman in the locomotive grab for something inside the engine. I heard the brakes grind, but the train rolled on and the engine plowed through the bus."

"Bodies of people rolled from the bus as it was smashed in pieces. The bus burst into flames. I heard one explosion, then another and then a third. The wreckage of the bus was enveloped in flames."

"The train came to a stop beyond the crossing with the brakes screeching. Passengers and crew began to pour from the train and run back along the tracks."

"There were bodies of the bus passengers scattered all along the tracks. The scene was terrible."

LADY TO TRAVEL FETED AT PARTY

In connection with the ladies aid meeting at the First Evangelical Lutheran church yesterday afternoon, Mrs. John Johnson was pleasantly surprised by the ladies following the regular program of the aid.

The president announced to the ladies there was a second part to this meeting, and then introduced Mrs. O. B. Johnson and Mrs. August Samuelson who sang a duet which was well received.

Mrs. Johnson also gave a reading "The Little Church" by Edgar Guest. The occasion for the surprise was then explained by the president, stating Mr. and Mrs. Johnson were leaving next week on a trip which will take in the greater part of the summer, and in which they will visit their childhood homes in Sweden.

In a short and spicy talk the president, on behalf of the ladies, presented Mrs. Johnson with a beautiful hand-tooled handbag and a basket of lovely flowers. Mrs. Johnson was completely surprised, and had no idea the ladies had planned anything for her. She responded in a short talk in which she expressed her appreciation for their tokens of friendship.

Mrs. Johnson is one of the many faithful workers in the ladies aid of the church, and the event brought many visitors and friends to the aid meeting. The hostesses were Mrs. Charles Oberg and Mrs. Andrew Nelson.

Laughs! Romance! Giggles! Pathos!

'Three Live Ghosts'

Taken from the sensational laugh hit of the same name which had Broadway holding its sides for several seasons, "Three Live Ghosts" is one of the most entertaining talking pictures to come out of Hollywood. You'll quake with laughter one minute and be held in a vice-like grip of suspense the next as the shell-shocked "Spooky" and his merry buddies return to Old England only to discover they are supposed to be "dead."

MAKING & BAKING a Ten-foot Pie Would Keep you Guessing

☞ Roasting
Coffee in Bulk is also Guess-work. That's why Hills Bros
Originated their Continuous Process,
"Controlled Roasting"
—just a Few
Pounds at a Time.

"GUESSING" is the word! Guessing whether the ingredients of your pie are properly mixed. Guessing whether the inside is done. The fact is, pies and all food cooked in small quantities are better than those cooked in bulk. Why? Because the small unit of food can be controlled during cooking.

Hills Bros. use this same principle of control in roasting coffee. A few pounds at a time continually pass through roasters. No bulk roasting. As a result every berry is roasted evenly and a matchless uniform flavor is obtained. No other coffee can taste like Hills Bros., for this exact process—Controlled Roasting—is exclusive to Hills Bros.

The rich aroma and wonderful flavor of this rare blend of coffee come to you intact because Hills Bros. Coffee is packed in vacuum tins. When you open the can, the coffee is just as it comes from the roaster.

Ask for Hills Bros. Coffee by name and look for the Arab on the can. Sold everywhere and overwhelmingly preferred by coffee-lovers.

Fresh from the original
opened with the key.

D. A. R. LUNCHEON HAS 2 HOSTESSES

Mrs. J. M. Hayes and Mrs. Martha A. Bronson Entertained at April Meeting

AT HOME OF C. W. MAHLUM

Circle of the Baptist Aid Directed by Mrs. Mahlum Served Luncheon

When the March hostesses of the D. A. R. Society—Mrs. Irma Camp Hartley and Mrs. Jas. R. Smith—engaged a circle of the Congregational Aid society to furnish the 10 o'clock luncheon at Mrs. Chas. Hoffman's home, the result was in every way so satisfactory that this month's hostesses, Mrs. J. M. Hayes and Mrs. Martha A. Bronson, decided to follow their example. A circle of the Baptist Aid society was engaged and the luncheon was held in the beautiful home of Mrs. Chas. Mahlum on the bluffs overlooking the river.

The beauty of the table appointments and excellence of the menu attained by Mrs. Hoffman and her able assistants at the March meeting could scarcely be surpassed; but Mrs. Mahlum and the ladies who assisted her, all of them picturesque in colonial costume, proved themselves quite equal to maintaining the standard. The luncheon tables were given a most seasonable decorative key by palest yellow tulips and velvety gray pussy willows.

One of the hostesses for this April meeting, Mrs. Elizabeth Hayes, who is also one of the most beloved and valuable members of the chapter, underwent a serious operation at St. Joseph's hospital only a day or so before, but she pluckily refused to have the plans changed because of her enforced absence, and was represented at the luncheon by her daughter, Mrs. Grace Mee, of Duluth, who is here in attendance upon her mother.

The chapter regent, Mrs. Bronson, attended the annual state conference of the D. A. R. at Minneapolis in February. Following the luncheon, she gave her report of this conference, stressing particularly the address of Dr. Phillip Osgood of St. Mark's. Dr. Osgood recognized the Daughter's work for "National Defense," which means "hoping preserve the best of American standards and ideals." "In fact," said he, "your society has become virtually an auxiliary of the government."

Owing to the absence of the regent and many chapter members from the March meeting, a part of the program for this meeting was postponed to the April meeting. Thus it happened that young Zane Smith, of the graduating class of the local high school, was the only speaker at the March meeting, he giving the oration which won him laurels in the annual contest.

At the April meeting the society's regular business meeting was hastened through in the regent's ablest manner, so as to give the floor at 3:30 to Miss Aletha Herwig of the high school faculty who came to give "Side-lights on the Folwell History." After earning her degree at the University of Minnesota, Miss Herwig was delighted to be given a long-coveted position on the staff in the Historical Society's library last summer, being detailed to some of the endless research work necessary in the verifying of every statement in an authentic history such as Doctor Wm. R. Folwell's History of Minnesota. The chapters on "Elections," "Iron Mines" and the "White Earth Indians" were those with which Miss Herwig labored, also the chapter called "The Twelve Apostles," which, said Miss

Herwig, "if one can bring themselves to mention such a thing as a fault in connection with the writing of so great a man, may lean a very little toward skepticism."

"Dr. Folwell has a deep sympathy for the Indians and was inclined to champion them in every case under dispute." This was especially pleasing to the speaker who has acquired the same viewpoint through experience gained while teaching in the Indian schools at White Earth, a few years ago.

The work of verifying and editing the history manuscripts became difficult at times, since Dr. Folwell used a type-writer which he declared to be "an indifferent speller" and a bit careless with names and dates. The collection of letters addressed to Folwell during a period covering nearly eighty years, written in every language and from people in every walk of life, notably those from former students grateful for the influence he had exerted, "an influence," as one has written, "that comes not alone from your mind, but more from your heart." One had wrote to inquire "at what hour are you most acceptable to boys?"

Miss Herwig's brief but comprehensive sketch of the life of Minnesota's "grand old man" was followed by a summing up of the characteristics that so endeared him to the people of his adopted state. "Modesty was the outstanding one, a tender consideration and sympathy, a delightful and never-failing whimsicality—these added to the fine, scholarly and scientific mind—made up the lovable man and loyal, warm-hearted citizen of whom Minnesota may well be proud."

"3 Live Ghosts," Stage Hit, Now a Talking Film

Among the Broadway hits to have been acquired by the movies for reproduction with sound is "Three Live Ghosts," the famous comedy-drama, the screen manifestation of which will be on exhibition at the Paramount on tonight and Saturday.

Free from the confining shackles of the stage, "Three Live Ghosts," which when originally produced had but the one setting of the interior of "Old Sweetheart's" home, is now played before a series of picturesque backgrounds, including the famous Scotland Yard (London's Police Headquarters), the mansion of a millionaire peer, the slums of Whitechapel, the tempestuous World War front during the heat of battle, and London Town at the time of the armistice celebration.

RECOMMENDS HEAVY EXPENDITURE FOR RIVERS AND HARBORS

Washington, April 11.—(U.P.)—Major General Lytle Brown, chief of army engineers, today recommended to congress expenditure of $10,606,000 divided among eight rivers and harbors projects, which included the Ashland harbor, Wisconsin, $230,000 and the Duluth-Superior harbor, $36,000.

D. A. R. LUNCHEON HAS 2 HOSTESSES

Mrs. J. M. Hayes and Mrs. Martha A. Bronson Entertained at April Meeting

When the March hostesses of the D. A. R. Society—Mrs. Irma Camp Hartley and Mrs. Jas. R. Smith—engaged a circle of the Congregational Aid society to furnish the 10 o'clock luncheon at Mrs. Chas. A circle of the Baptist Aid society was engaged and the luncheon was held in the beautiful home of Mrs. Chas. Mahlum on the bluffs overlooking the river.

The beauty of the table appointments and excellence of the menu attained by Mrs. Hoffman and her able assistants at the March meeting could scarcely be surpassed; but Mrs. Mahlum and the ladies who assisted her, all of them picturesque in colonial costume, proved themselves quite equal to maintaining the standard. The luncheon tables were given a most seasonable decorative key by palest yellow tulips and velvety gray pussy willows.

One of the hostesses for this April meeting, Mrs. Elizabeth Hayes, who is also one of the most beloved and valuable members of the chapter, underwent a serious operation at St. Joseph's hospital only a day or so before, but she pluckily refused to have the plans changed because of her enforced absence and was represented at the luncheon by her daughter, Mrs. Grace Mee, of Duluth, who is here in attendance upon her mother.

The chapter regent, Mrs. Bronson, attended the annual state conference of the D. A. R. at Minneapolis in February. Following the luncheon, she gave her report of this conference, stressing particularly the address of Dr. Phillip Osgood of St. Mark's. Dr. Osgood recognized the daughter's work for "National Defense," which means "helping preserve the best of American standards and ideals." "In fact," said he, "your society has become virtually an auxiliary of the government."

The chapters on "Elections," "Iron Mines" and the "White Earth Indians" were those with which Miss Herwig labored, also the chapter called "The Twelve Apostles," which, said Miss

Herwig, "if one can bring themselves to mention such a thing as a fault in connection with the writing of so great a man, may lean a very little toward skepticism."

"Dr. Folwell has a deep sympathy for the Indians and was inclined to champion them in every case under dispute." This was especially pleasing to the speaker who has acquired the same viewpoint through experience gained while teaching in the Indian schools at White Earth, a few years ago.

The work of verifying and editing the history manuscripts became difficult at times, since Dr. Folwell used a type-writer which he declared to be "an indifferent speller" and a bit careless with names and dates.

Miss Herwig spoke, also, of the collection of letters addressed to Folwell during a period covering nearly eighty years, written in every language and from people in every walk of life, notably those from former students grateful for the influence he had exerted, "an influence," as one has written, "that comes not alone from your mind, but more from your heart." One lad wrote to inquire "at what hour are you most acceptable to boys?"

Miss Herwig's brief but comprehensive sketch of the life of Minnesota's "grand old man" was followed by a summing up of the characteristics that so endeared him to the people of his adopted state. "Modesty was the outstanding one, a tender consideration and sympathy, a delightful and never-failing whimsicality—these added to the fine, scholarly and scientific mind—made up the lovable man and loyal, warm-hearted citizen of whom Minnesota may well be proud."

Walter H. Cobban, age about 70, charter member of the Brainerd Rotary club, a well known insurance adjuster, prominent Mason, largely interested in Gull Lake properties and having a summer home on that lake near Inwood, died last evening in Minneapolis from heart trouble, shortly after he and his wife had returned from a winter's visit in Mississippi and Florida.

Every year when fall set in, Mr. and Mrs. Cobban went to journey southward and spend the winter there. ### FUNERAL RITES MONDAY

One of Earliest Pioneers of Brainerd; Fired Earliest Engine Type of N. P.

MARY AND DOUG HERE IN SHAKESPEARE PLAY

Douglas Fairbanks is made to order for the role of Petruchio. As "gentleman of Verona" who confidently sets out to woo, tame and win the heart of the positive, man-hating Katherine, the inimitable Mr. Fairbanks is well nigh perfect. And Mary Pickford's interpretation of Katherine reveals Miss Pickford in a new type role. And it goes without saying that "America's sweetheart" is more than equal to the occasion. As the talkative, violent Katherine who raises the roof with her violent actions, Mary Pickford is a delight to behold and a joy to listen to.

In support of the stars are a number of popular players including Clyde Cook, Edwin Maxwell, Joseph Cawthorn, Geoffrey Wardwell and Dorothy Jordan.

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT FOR MARCH

W. C. Cobb Presents Written Report of Activities in Brainerd Schools

The report of Brainerd schools for the month of March as submitted by W. C. Cobb, superintendent of schools follows:

The statistical report for the month, which is placed at the end of this report, is so nearly a repetition of the last month's summary that it needs little comment. Average attendance is six less in all the schools than for last month, average belonging is ten less than for last month and total enrollment since the beginning of school in September is 15 greater, indicating 15 new entries for the month which is slightly less than the number of pupils dropped. The total enrollment since September, in all schools is 2429, average belonging for the month just closed 2259 and average attendance for the month 2184.

The additional library books authorized by the board at a recent meeting will be ready to submit to the text-book and library committee before vacation, so that they can be ordered without delay.

In making inquiry concerning an available commencement speaker, we have been in correspondence with Commissioner J. M. McConnell, and several others, and a number of names have been suggested, two of which are from the state university and the third the Rev. Sainsbury formerly of St. Paul. Commissioner McConnell writes that Rev. Sainsbury was in great demand for public speaking engagements during his entire stay in that city.

Within the last week, two state inspectors from the department of education, Theodore Utne and H. E. Flynn, spent a half-day inspecting our schools. Mr. Utne devoted his attention to the high school and Mr. Flynn to the elementary grades.

Beginning with last year, the state inspection of schools has attempted to cover every essential detail of school organization, administration and physical equipment. The inspectors aim to check every important detail in connection with a school system so far as time may permit and suggest to superintendent and principal matters that deserve attention, looking toward uniform standards in the state.

The larger part of their report dwelt upon the general condition of grade buildings for caring for the large number of children housed therein on the basis of the revised standards of 1929. The state department of education, beginning with last year, is attempting to increase the length of the school day and are urging all of the schools to conform as early as possible. Many of the schools, at the present time, including as a rule the larger towns, of which Minneapolis is one, have not yet made the recommended adjustment. The state recommended a five-hour school day for the first grade, five and one-half for the second grade and six hours for all grades from three to eight inclusive. Our school day runs four and one-half hours for the first two grades and five and one-half hours for all other grades, which, according to state recommendation should be increased by 30 minutes. With the exception of the first grade, the time allotment, I believe, is sound, and if the board should see fit to conform, it would probably be necessary to begin school in the grades 15 minutes earlier in the morning and 15 minutes earlier in the afternoon or possibly 15 minutes earlier in the afternoon and extend the closing time to 4:15 instead of 4 o'clock.

The suggestions and criticisms, though open to argument along some lines, were helpful, constructive and suggestive and I shall take them up with our principals and teachers at once.

Mr. Utne laid special stress on the state board tests for high schools as well as grades, and called attention to the splendid record made by our seventh and eighth grade pupils in the state examinations last year, our school being in the upper quarter of the schools of the state in the record made at the state examinations. Inasmuch as these examinations are now in reality achievement tests and prepared along the lines of standardized tests for measuring "pupil attainment" in the eight standard subjects of the elementary school curriculum, it is gratifying to know that our pupils were measuring up, at least above the average for the state as a whole.

Mr. Flynn, in the closing paragraph of his letter remarked: "Your principals were competent and sympathetic, the teaching was uniformly good, the response of the pupils was commendable and the fine spirit of both pupils and teachers was particularly noticeable."

The annual election of teachers for the coming year should take place as soon as possible in order that teachers may be making their plans for the coming year and the board of education likewise.

DADS HOLD FINE MEET AT LOWELL

Speaking and Musical Program Proves Entertaining at Last Session of Year

Tuesday night was Dads' Night at the Lowell P. T. A. meeting. F. G. Drieling conducted the business, while Abe Zimmerman acted as secretary. The musical part of the program consisted of three selections by the Lowell orchestra and a piano solo by Rudolph Drieling. The speakers of the evening were Carl Zapffe, and Werner Anderson, third ward alderman.

On behalf of the parents and children of the Senior and Junior orchestras, the president presented Mrs. Wareing, director, with a beautiful bouquet of red and yellow roses.

Mr. Zapffe spoke on the relationship of the father to the son presenting many original ideas on the subject. Mr. Anderson spoke on the subject of the city buying the People's church property for a hose house, polling place, boy scout meeting place and general community center. The old hose house has outlived its usefulness, and a motion was adopted favoring such a move.

S. R. Fish, scoutmaster of Troop No. 43 spoke on the splendid work accomplished by the boys and asked the backing of the association. A motion was adopted that the association sponsor the boy scout troop No. 43 of Northeast Brainerd.

Owing to the lateness of the hour the election of officers was postponed until the first meeting in the fall.

The program committee consisted of Albert O. Anderson and H. A. Kaatz. The lunch committee consisting of R. E. Westerlund, Henry Porath, and E. L. Fish served delicious refreshments.

This was the last meeting of the year except the joint meeting of all the parent teachers associations of Brainerd to be held some time in May, and all connected with the association are well pleased with the year's accomplishments and increased interest taken in school work by the fathers as well as the mothers.

Bethlehem Evangelical Ladies Aid. The ladies aid of the Bethlehem Evangelical church will hold a food sale, Saturday, April 19, at the City Market, at 10 o'clock.

These are all matters which the next legislature will have before it for consideration."

Commissioner McConnell writes that Rev. Sainsbury was in great demand for public speaking engagements during his entire stay in that city.

Within the last week, two state inspectors from the department of education, Theodore Utne and H. E. Flynn, spent a half-day inspecting our schools. Mr. Utne devoted his attention to the high school and Mr. Flynn to the elementary grades.

Beginning with last year, the state inspection of schools has attempted to cover every essential detail of school organization, administration and physical equipment. The inspectors aim to check every important detail in connection with a school system so far as time may permit and suggest to superintendent and principal matters that deserve attention, looking toward uniform standards in the state.

The larger part of their report dwelt upon the general condition of grade buildings for caring for the large number of children housed therein on the basis of the revised standards of 1929. The state department of education, beginning with last year, is attempting to increase the length of the school day and are urging all of the schools to conform as early as possible. Many of the schools, at the present time, including as a rule the larger towns, of which Minneapolis is one, have not yet made the recommended adjustment. The state recommends a five-hour school day for the first grade, five and one-half for the second grade and six hours for all grades from three to eight inclusive. Our school day runs four and one-half hours for the first two grades and five and one-half hours for all other grades, which, according to state recommendation should be increased by 30 minutes. With the exception of the first grade, the time allotment, I believe, is sound, and if the board should see fit to conform, it would probably be necessary to begin school in the grades 15 minutes earlier in the morning and 15 minutes earlier in the afternoon or possibly 15 minutes earlier in the afternoon and extend the closing time to 4:15 instead of 4 o'clock.

The suggestions and criticisms, though open to argument along some lines, were helpful, constructive and suggestive and I shall take them up with our principals and teachers at once.

Mr. Utne laid special stress on the state board tests for high schools as well as grades, and called attention to the splendid record made by our seventh and eighth grade pupils in the state examinations last year, our school being in the upper quarter of the schools of the state in the record made at the state examinations. Inasmuch as these examinations are now in reality achievement tests and prepared along the lines of standardized tests for measuring "pupil attainment" in the eight standard subjects of the elementary school curriculum, it is gratifying to know that our pupils were measuring up, at least above the average for the state as a whole.

Mr. Flynn, in the closing paragraph of his letter remarked: "Your principals were competent and sympathetic, the teaching was uniformly good, the response of the pupils was commendable and the fine spirit of both pupils and teachers was particularly noticeable."

The annual election of teachers for the coming year should take place as soon as possible in order that teachers may be making their plans for the coming year and the board of education likewise.

DADS HOLD FINE MEET AT LOWELL

Speaking and Musical Program Proves Entertaining at Last Session of Year

Tuesday night was Dads' Night at the Lowell P. T. A. meeting. F. G. Drieling conducted the business, while Abe Zimmerman acted as secretary. The musical part of the program consisted of three selections by the Lowell orchestra and a piano solo by Rudolph Drieling. The speakers of the evening were Carl Zapffe, and Werner Anderson, third ward alderman.

On behalf of the parents and children of the Senior and Junior orchestras, the president presented Mrs. Wareing, director, with a beautiful bouquet of red and yellow roses.

Mr. Zapffe spoke on the relationship of the father to the son presenting many original ideas on the subject. Mr. Anderson spoke on the subject of the city buying the People's church property for a hose house, polling place, boy scouts meeting place and general community center. The old hose house has outlived its usefulness, and a motion was adopted favoring such a move.

S. R. Fish, scoutmaster of Troop No. 43 spoke on the splendid work accomplished by the boys and asked the backing of the association. A motion was adopted that the association sponsor the boy scout troop No. 43 of Northeast Brainerd.

Owing to the lateness of the hour the election of officers was postponed until the first meeting in the fall.

The program committee consisted of Albert O. Anderson and H. A. Kaatz. The lunch committee consisting of R. E. Westerlund, Henry Porath, and E. L. Fish served delicious refreshments.

This was the last meeting of the year except the joint meeting of all the parent teachers associations of Brainerd to be held some time in May, and all connected with the association are well pleased with the year's accomplishments and increased interest taken in school work by the fathers as well as the mothers.

The Cottage Grill increased its lead in the Ladies' League by taking three games from the Northern States Power last evening. Princess Kandy Kids went into second place by taking three games from Service News. Kreech had high score of the evening, when she hit 177 her second game. She made the only 400 count of the match. Her games were 83, 177 and 151 for 411 total.

4H Club Members Meet at Four Different Places Today

650 BOYS AND GIRLS GET INSTRUCTIONS IN CLUB PROJECTS

SESSIONS ARE HELD AT CROSBY, BRAINERD, PEQUOT; AT FIFTY LAKES TONIGHT

MISS MILDRED SCHENCK, STATE CLUB AGENT, ROTH, JOHNSON CONDUCT MEETINGS

Crow Wing county boys and girls, members of 4H Clubs in the number of 650, had a very interesting day today.

Meetings for various sections of the county were conducted at 8:45 A. M. at Crosby, at 11 A. M. at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, at 3 P. M. at Pequot. The last meeting of the day will be held at 8 P. M. for members in the Fifty Lakes area at the Fifty Lakes school house.

The sessions were in charge of Miss Mildred Schenck, state club agent; Fred Johnson, county club agent, and E. G. Roth, county agent.

Instructions in 4H Club projects as sponsored by that progressive organization were given by the agents.

Over 200 boys and girls, leaders and many parents attended the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Projects Planned

The clubs will engage in the following projects this year: dairy calf, pig, sheep, poultry, potato, garden, canning, garment making, cake baking, bread baking, home beautification, dairy judging and leadership.

Demonstration teams will also compete at the state fair, county fair, and the Crosby Fair and ten-minute stunts will be sponsored by the various clubs at the county fair while many will have booths.

Winners in projects will compete in state contests at the State Fair and others will compete at the Junior Live Stock Show at St. Paul in November.

Trips will also be awarded 15 members to the Junior Short Course at the University Farm, St. Paul, for four days in June.

Clubs will also unite in various picnics this summer.

Keen interest will be taken this year in the competition for the cup donated by the Deerwood Commercial Club.

The scores of the clubs will be tabulated according to meetings, attendance, program, attendance of visitors, percentage completing work and percentage in fair exhibits.

Membership Goal, 1,000

The membership goal this year has been placed at 1,000. Last year 671 members were enrolled.

A meeting will be held in the early part of May for club leaders and club officers at the farmers' room of the court house to create more unified work among all the clubs. State leaders will be present to speak.

"A large part of the club work success is due to local leaders," County Agent Roth said today. "4H Club work is one of the biggest educational features in rural development and has grown to be the largest organization of juniors in the world. Congress is leaning more and more to such rural education."

Club Leader Fred Johnson devotes two weeks every month this summer to county club work in Crow Wing county, working with Mr. Roth in putting over the immense program.

Crow Wing county is recognized as one of the first four counties in the state in 4H Club work. In last year's state-wide competition the county was fourth with 85 per cent of its members completing their club work.

More Clubs Elect

The clubs are now engaged in a busy season of their work. For the past month new clubs have been organized and other clubs re-organized.

BOY IS WOUNDED BY SHOTGUN SLUGS

St. Paul, Minn., April 11.—(UP)—Wounded seriously by shotgun slugs, Bernard Martineau, 16, lay in Ancker hospital today under arrest. Martineau was shot by Sam Norman, restaurant keeper who thought he heard someone trying to break in his restaurant. ## MANN TO BE FURTHER QUESTIONED ABOUT AUNE GIRL MURDER

Minneapolis, April 11.—(UP)—Andy Mann, negro murderer of Earl Tague, 16, St. Paul, will be questioned a second time concerning his purported confession of the murder of Dorothy Aune, 12, Minneapolis, Minneapolis police said today.

A cross examination of Mann at Stillwater state penitentiary yesterday was unsatisfactory, they said, though it left them practically convinced that he had no part in the Aune crime.

Mann was questioned for nearly six hours but told conflicting stories and contradicted himself numerous times during the grilling, they said.

LOW COST OF TRAVEL NOTED

V. E. Lawson, Editor Willmar Tribune, Returns From Automobile Trip

TRAVELED IN 15 STATES

Comes Home Convinced Minnesota Is One of Best States in Union

V. E. Lawson, editor of the Willmar Tribune, has just returned from an automobile trip through 15 states. In commenting on the trip Mr. Lawson gives some interesting figures on the low cost of modern transportation. This is what he says:

We arrived home today shortly after noon, having been absent on our trip for 56 days, during which time we traveled through 15 states and the District of Columbia, a distance upon the roads of 6,168 miles. Our gas bill for the entire trip and mileage during our stay amounted to $77.82, with $31.60 for oil and greasing car, and housing it for 24 nights. The entire cost of the trip for meals, lodging and car expense amounted to $509, which divided among the five persons and the number of days brings the average cost per person to a trifle less than $1.82 a day. This allows nothing for the wear and tear of the car which we used. The car gave us no trouble whatever. We suffered no punctures or blowouts during the entire trip, but on the last day a slow leak developed in one tire which required a little extra air. The actual running expense of the car for the trip amounted to but a small fraction over one and three-quarters cents a mile.

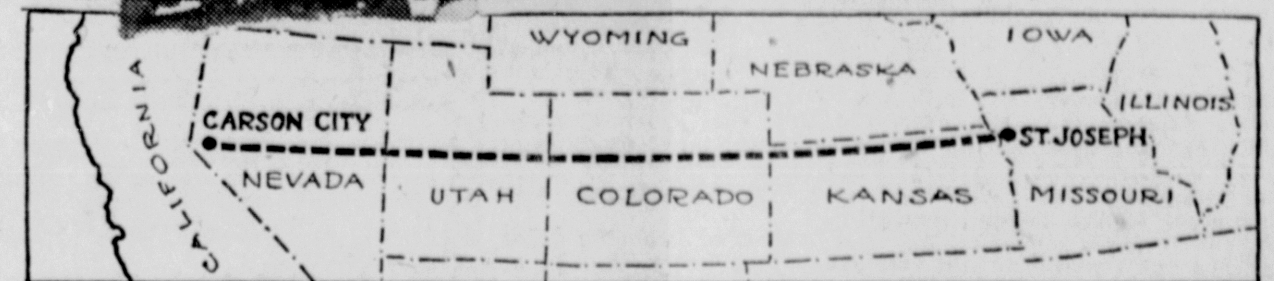

This carefully kept record proves what a great revolution in transportation a medium priced car and good roads have brought about. And it is no wonder that as people find it out the number of vacation tourists increases each year by leaps and bounds. The warm tropical climate will attract more and more people to spend some time in the south during the winters and our cool summer resorts by the lakes of the north will attract more and more summer visitors.

During the entire trip we have not met a car driven by a drunken driver, nor have we seen anyone under the influence of liquor in our drives through or walks about the numerous cities we have visited, with one exception, when we saw a company of two or three boys in a hotel in a mountain town that were a little loud in their talk. This argument about there being as much liquor sold now as during the old saloon days is so absurdly silly that it is a wonder that anyone who has any regard for their reputation for veracity will indulge in it. Those who see the drinking being done nowadays are such as are looking for it, and unconsciously they give themselves away.

We came home more convinced than ever that we have in Minnesota one of the best states in the Union both for raising crops and in for all year around residence. If you could successfully combine the climate of the tropics with the push and energy of the North you might have an ideal condition. But there is no substitute for the fine black loam of our farms. There may be occasional patches of muck lands of high fertility in the South but they are the exception and constitute a small percentage of the lands. The question of commercial fertilizing is the greatest one that the southern planter has to face. They have the phosphate beds and the water power with which to extract the nitrogen from the air, but this requires development and the application upon the land require a technical skill which is beyond the average farmer of the present generation.

It may be that Minnesota farmers are still doing too much mining of the fertility of the soil, and are not replacing the elements needed to keep the lands yielding good crops in perpetuity, but so far they are away ahead of the farmer who must add these elements to his soil before he can hope to raise anything. Here they have had these resources which Nature has stored up for them in our soil to draw upon while from experience and experimentation they are learning how to conserve and improve the soil. The farmer of Minnesota who makes the best effort possible to give his boys a practical knowledge of the technique of farming is giving them the best legacy possible. It may be true that this knowledge may often be thrown aside or disregarded for something which attracts in the cities and towns, but in many cases it will bear fruit and be of inestimable value for the future of the commonwealth.

Fast Travel of Seventy Years Ago

In this modern age of airplanes, fast express trains and automobiles, we can scarcely picture the first pony express which left St. Joseph, Mo., and set out for the then far away Carson Valley in the State of Nevada. After eight and one-half days of travel, the hardy pioneers arrived in Carson Valley, with the first pony express of the United States, on April 12, 1860. Above is pictured the first "express" with its guard as it rumbled into the Carson Valley seventy years ago; (lower) the outline of country between the two States which was covered in eight and one-half days by the pioneer vehicle.

ODD OFFENSE FOR A WOMAN

CHARGED WITH SENDING OBSCENE MATTER THROUGH MAIL TO HERSELF

Spokane, Wash., April 11.—(UP)—Lette Jourdin, 37, secretary of the County Women's Christian Temperance Union, is at liberty on $500 bail today on a charge of sending obscene matter through the mail to herself.

Miss Jourdin, a Sunday school teacher and a member of the Ladies' Aid, admitted, according to authorities, that she had written more than 200 obscene letters to herself. At the district attorney's office it was said that the letters were so obscene that they could not be shown to newspapermen.

The reason for the letters, according to Miss Jourdin's confession, was that she was in love with Sheriff Floyd Brower. Two years ago she decided he was her "ideal man," and she conceived the idea of writing the obscene letters to herself so that she might take them to Brower and make a complaint. A few days ago Brower discovered, in the course of his investigation, that the letters were written on Miss Jourdin's typewriter.

UNFILLED ORDERS OF STEEL CORPORATION INCREASE LARGELY

New York, April 11.—(UP)—Unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation increased 90,905 tons during March to a total of 4,570,653 tons, it was announced here yesterday.

Unfilled orders as of Feb. 28, 1930, were 4,479,648 tons, compared with 4,468,710 tons on Jan. 31 and 4,410,718 tons on March 31, 1929.

MORGAN'S CORSAIR YACHT LAUNCHED

$2,500,000 YACHT GLIDES DOWN THE WAYS AT BATH, MAINE

Bath, Me., April 11.—(UP)—A new dream ship—champagne dripping from its bows—glided down the ways yesterday as J. P. Morgan's $2,500,000 yacht, Corsair, was launched.

Only a few friends of the eminent financier were within the Bath Iron Works shipyards as Mrs. Geo. Nichols, Morgan's daughter, cracked the quart of 1915 vintage champagne on the bow. But there were hundreds outside the wire enclosure who watched the most expensive private vessel in the world take the water.

Luxury was the vessel's keynote. It has the characteristic black hull of the Morgan boats, a super-structure of white and teak. All exposed woodwork is of teak imported from India. Panelling, beam work and decking is of the same material except in the crew's quarters and those are furnished in mahogany.

Here is a thumbnail sketch of the biggest private craft afloat:

Length—343 feet 8 inches (overall)
280 feet (waterline).
Beam—42 feet 6 inches.
"Draught"—18 feet.
Displacement—2712 tons.
Power—two turbo-electric units capable of 600 h. p.
Maximum speed—16 knots.
Cruising radius—25,000 miles.
Crew—58 men.

It was the first time since prohibition that real champagne had been used for christening purposes at the historic Bath yard, and shipwrights who witnessed the revival of a beloved tradition unhesitatingly predicted a rosy career for the Corsair.

The owner's quarters on the main deck include a stateroom, writing room, bath and roomy cedar-lined closet. Five similar staterooms have been provided on the starboard side for guests.

DELVE INTO A BIG ALCOHOL RING

Minneapolis, Minn., April 11.—(UP)—L. C. Wahl, New York prize fighter, was held incommunicado in the city jail today, as police delved into the ramifications of an alleged $1,000,000 alcohol ring.

Wahl was held for possible indictment as the alleged pay-off man in the killing of Sam Miller, Minneapolis and Kansas City racketeer.

In investigating the killing of Miller by gangsters, police were put on the track of what they believe to be an enormous alcohol ring with ramifications in many midwest cities and Winnipeg.

Police discovered that Miller was not a bookie as they supposed, but apparently an agent for large bootlegging operations believed to have headquarters in New York and Chicago.

Evidence gathered by the police in their investigation will be presented to the Hennepin county grand jury for further study, they said today. They will also ask the indictment of Wahl in connection with the killing of Miller.

Wahl was arrested in a St. Paul telephone office where he had gone to get a $100 money order sent from New York by a man named Wiseman.

MANTER BANK BANDITS DRAW DEATH PENALTY

REALIZE THAT FURTHER LEGAL FIGHTS ARE FUTILE ENDEAVORS

REVEAL FOR FIRST TIME WHICH ONE KILLED SHERIFF HICKMAN

Eads, Colo., April 11.—(UP)—The Manter bank bandits, who were condemned to death on the gallows by a jury last night, realized today that further fight was futile and revealed for the first time which one of them killed Deputy Sheriff Coral A. Hickman.

They declared that previous accounts of the murder including the one adduced at their trial were "doctored" on the theory that the state, unable to establish which one did the killing would fail to obtain a hanging verdict.

Claude Ray, 24, midget member of the gang, took the entire blame for Hickman's death and the other bandits, John Walker, 42, and Andrew Halliday, 22, substantiated his story. "I was just out of the pen," Ray said. "I had not had a dime for years but the day of the murder I had $2,000 in my pocket which I got in the Manter bank robbery and I'd be damned if I intended to give it up—I shot Hickman."

The three men were doomed to the gallows last night less than a month after they had fled out of eastern Kansas after robbing the bank of Manter, shot Hickman and were captured near Jetmore, Kansas.

Crow Wing County Garden Flower Society In Timely Suggestions

Growing plants from seeds. Anyone intending to raise annuals from seed will find the beginning stage the most interesting. However, he must curb his enthusiasm and not start the plants too early. For those that are not too rapid in growth, now is the time to start them, if you are using a cold frame or planting the seeds in the house.

Sunlight is essential to the growth of plants. Seed may be sown in boxes or pots and set in any window sill. However, after they are up they must be placed in a window receiving sunlight. A south window is best, but an east or west window will do. Boxes, cans, etc., or any size will do and a depth of three inches is sufficient for a very poor soil. For fine seed the plants are in the flats. No matter what type of receptacle is used the bottom should have holes to let out the excess moisture. Even though some provision is made for drainage it is well to place some coarse material at the bottom of the receptacle. For this purpose broken pieces of stones, cinders, etc., will do. It is best to bake the soil in an oven to sterilize it and the upper layer should be screened. Our sandy soil is ideal for the germination of seeds and soil from the garden is as good as you can obtain.

Level off the dirt in the box and tamp it well. Mark off the rows with a stick or plant label, the stick being pressed into the soil to the depth wanted for the seed. For fine seed the surface is barely marked. This is very important for the chief cause of failure is planting the seeds too deeply. Mark each row distinctly at the end of the row. Stakes in the center, interfere with the covering to be placed over the box later. After the seed is all sown dry sand is sieved over the rows. Cover the larger seeds about four times their size and barely cover the smaller seeds.

In watering, you will find a sprinkling can or water poured directly on the soil a very poor method. A cloth soaked in water, then placed over the entire box and the water poured on the cloth, the best method. The cloth is left in position until the seeds are germinated. NEVER LET THE SEEDS DRY OUT. After the seeds have germinated, remove the covering and place a piece of glass over the box. Place it in a window where they will receive the sunlight.

"Damping off" is one of the most annoying experiences any gardener can have and the disease will take a whole batch of seedlings over night. There are several ways of preventing this. The seeds should not be sown too thickly and sterilization of the soil is beneficial. Semasol is a commercial preparation used to prevent damping off and it is probably the best of all. It will also aid in the germination and make better plants. However, the most important is the care of your seedlings after they have started. Always aim to keep the leaves and stems dry. Watering should be done early in the day and the plants given plenty of ventilation.

Transplanting the seedlings will be given in a later article.

4H Club Members Meet at Four Different Places Today

650 BOYS AND GIRLS GET INSTRUCTIONS IN CLUB PROJECTS

SESSIONS ARE HELD AT CROSBY, BRAINERD, PEQUOT, AT FIFTY LAKES TONIGHT

MISS MILDRED SCHENCK, STATE CLUB AGENT, ROTH, JOHN-SON CONDUCT MEETINGS

Crow Wing county boys and girls, members of 4H Clubs in the number of 650, had a very interesting day today.

Meetings for various sections of the county were conducted at 8:45 A. M. at Crosby, at 11 A. M. at the Chamber of Commerce rooms, at 3 P. M. at Pequot. The last meeting of the day will be held at 8 P. M. for members in the Fifty Lakes area at the Fifty Lakes school house.

The sessions were in charge of Miss Mildred Schenck, state club agent; Fred Johnson, county club agent; and E. G. Roth, county agent.

Instructions in 4H club projects as sponsored by that progressive organization were given by the agents.

Over 200 boys and girls, leaders and many parents attended the meeting at the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

Projects Planned

The clubs will engage in the following projects this year: dairy calf, pig, sheep, poultry, potato, garden, canning, garment making, cake baking, bread baking, home beautification, dairy judging and leadership.

Demonstration teams will also compete at the state fair, county fair, and the Crosby Fair and ten-minute stunts will be sponsored by the various clubs at the county fair while many will have booths.

Winners in projects will compete in state contests at the State Fair and others will compete at the Junior Live Stock Show at St. Paul in November.

Trips will also be awarded 15 members to the Junior Short Course at the University Farm, St. Paul, for four days in June.

Clubs will also unite in various picnics this summer.

Keen interest will be taken this year in the competition for the cup donated by the Deere Commercial Club.

The scores of the clubs will be tabulated according to meetings, attendance, programs, attendance of visitors, percentage completing work and percentage in fair exhibits.

Membership Goal, 1,000

The membership goal this year has been placed at 1,000. Last year 671 members were enrolled.

A meeting will be held in the early part of May for club leaders and club officers at the farmers' room of the court house to create more unified work among all the clubs. State leaders will be present to speak.

"A large part of the club work success is due to local leaders," County Agent Roth said today.

"4H Club work is one of the biggest educational features in rural development and has grown to be the largest organization of juniors in the world. Congress is leaning more and more to such rural education."

Club Leader Fred Johnson devotes two weeks every month this summer to county club work in Crow Wing county, working with Mr. Roth in putting over the immense program.

Crow Wing county is recognized as one of the first four counties in the state in 4H club work. In last year's state-wide competition the county was fourth with 85 per cent of its members completing their club work.

More Clubs Elect

The clubs are now engaged in a busy season of their work. For the past month new clubs have been organized and other clubs re-organized. Lake Edwards elected officers as follows yesterday:

President—Annabelle Lester.
Vice President—Orville Hollingsworth.
Secretary—Josephine Brenno.
Treasurer—Beatrice Schull.
Club reporter—Beatrice Schull.

Officers elected for the new Oak Hill 4H club of Fort Ripley are:
President—Alice Gilson.

MANN TO BE FURTHER QUESTIONED ABOUT AUNE GIRL MURDER

Minneapolis, April 11.—(U.P.)—Andy Mann, negro murderer of Earl Tague, 16, St. Paul, will be questioned a second time concerning his purported confession of the murder of Dorothy Aune, 12, Minneapolis, Minneapolis police said today.

A cross examination of Mann at Stillwater state penitentiary yesterday was unsatisfactory, they said, though it left them practically convinced that he had no part in the Aune crime.

Mann was questioned for nearly six hours but told conflicting stories and contradicted himself numerous times during the grilling, they said.

MANTER BANK BANDITS DRAW DEATH PENALTY

REALIZE THAT FURTHER LEGAL FIGHTS ARE FUTILE ENDEAVORS

REVEAL FOR FIRST TIME WHICH ONE KILLED SHERIFF HICKMAN

Eads, Colo., April 11.—(U.P.)—The Manter bank bandits, who were condemned to death on the gallows by a jury last night, realized today that further fight was futile and revealed for the first time which one of them killed Deputy Sheriff Coral A. Hickman.

They declared that previous accounts of the murder including the one adduced at their trial were "doctored" on the theory that the state, unable to establish which one did the killing would fail to obtain a hanging verdict.

Claude Ray, 24, midget member of the gang, took the entire blame for Hickman's death and the other bandits, John Walker, 42, and Andrew Halliday, 22, substantiated his story. "I was just out of the pen," Ray said. "I had not had a dime for years but the day of the murder I had $2,000 in my pocket which I got in the Manter bank robbery and I'd be damned if I intended to give it up—I shot Hickman."

The three men were doomed to the gallows last night less than a month after they had fled out of eastern Kansas after robbing the bank of Kanter, shot Hickman and were captured near Jetmore, Kansas.

"MASTER of MONEY"

CHAPTER LIII.
FATIGUE blunted her sensibilities. Alan loved her and it was more than possible that she had killed him by taking that long journey in the car. She could not even feel anxiety on that score. It was impossible to nurse him. Doctors would not come up-country, so there had been no alternative to taking him down.

Her emotional being was numbed, and her active consciousness saw only the necessity to keep the camp in order and the work going until he could return to take command of it.

She went to the house in Kalamaria, bathed and forced herself to take a meal, then set herself to the task of driving back to the camp. She had no doubt that she would arrive. Her fatigue had passed beyond the immediate want for sleep and she knew that, if need were, she could go on moving and working for several days and nights. For the first time in her life she was drawing on the immense reserves of strength and energy she had built up by years of healthy living.

She reached the shack an hour before dawn and was greeted by Petros who, refusing to sleep, had squatted outside the shack awaiting her return. She was able to feel gratitude for his devotion, but was too ignorant of the customs of the country to attempt to express it. She knew that it would be foolish to lie down, and while Petros prepared her a meal she wrote to Alan.

"Dear Alan, get well as quickly as you can and don't worry about anything. Your plans were successful in every detail. Stephanos and his whole band have been destroyed. With the help of the foreman I shall be able to carry on here until you are fit. I will send a letter down every day by the supply lorries telling you what we are doing. Your—Shirley."

She enclosed it in a covering letter to the hospital authorities, requesting them to give it to Alan as soon as he recovered full consciousness.

It was no idle assurance. While in the camp she had seen something of Alan's organization, his foresight and ability to provide for the possible failure of others. The battle had gone exactly as he had planned it and the work would do the same.

Although he did not know it, Abramov was, in effect, made general manager of the camp. He spoke four languages, like most of the Macedonians above the laboring classes, and possessed English as a fifth. The first day he troubled her little and by the second day she had slept off her fatigue and plunged with full strength into arranging supplies, pay and the details of the work. Every day she received mythical orders from Alan, which planned overnight, and spent the day in seeing to their execution.

In six days the metals were laid and a short train puffed through the camp laden with stone for completing the last few miles of the track. It was on that day that Roger appeared in the camp.

It was during the last hour of work. Shirley was in the shack, checking quantities, when a laborer brought him in.

For a moment she stared at him helplessly, believing that his appearance was an hallucination.

"Hallo, Shirley!" he said shamefacedly. "I'm sorry to disturb you. I wanted to see Brenaway."

At the sound of his voice, Shirley stiffened and pulled herself together.

"He is not here—he won't be here for a week, perhaps longer," she said coldly. "Why have you come here, Roger?"

Uninvited, he seated himself.

"Can I have a drink, Shirley?"

"You can have limejuice and water if you like. We have no alcohol here."

"Don't forget that we are husband and wife for another couple of months or so."

He made a grimace and took the proffered drink.

"Are you living here with him?"

"You must find it pretty ghastly!" he remarked.

"Will you tell me why you have come, Roger?" she persisted.

"This is a rather chilly reception, my dear," he said ironically. "Don't forget that we are husband and wife for another couple of months or so. Also—don't forget, please, that I am chief shareholder in Macedonian Developments. That, perhaps, will explain why I have come."

Shirley glared at him. The work was Alan's and hers and to hear him claiming it as his made her angry.

"That isn't true. Alan took the shares from you in return for the money you owe him."

She watched him smile in the way she had detested of old.

"I see he does not take you wholly into his confidence," said

Roger. "Brenaway offered to take a million and a quarter in shares in return for his half-million—but as even I cannot afford to run the risk of paying back a million and a quarter for the use of a half-million for one year, I thought I would come out and see exactly what is being done with my property."

Shirley was at a loss. She remembered that Alan had written to Roger the day before he went up-country and she had assumed that the whole matter had been arranged.

"I don't follow all this," she said wearily. "You had better go back to Salonika and wait until Alan can see you. He is ill and will not be able to do any business for some little time."

"And has left you in charge, eh?" suggested Roger. "Well,

"I can't discuss his affairs with you," said Shirley.

"But why not? There is no breach of confidence. His affairs are mine, as far as this company is concerned. It is only a matter of courtesy on your part. I can get an order from the court cancelling the power of attorney given him and can then demand to see all the papers and reports."

"An order of the court!" she laughed bitterly. "What use do you think an order of the court would be to you in this camp, Roger?"

Headaches, Listlessness, Bad Breath, Backaches, Indigestion
—Stop Them with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

This is a serious matter. You must conquer constipation! Stop it at once before its poisons get in their deadly work.

Nearly 90% of all sickness has its origin in irregular elimination. If you neglect the symptoms—constant fatigue, bad breath, headaches and coated tongue—you may be laying yourself open to permanent ill-health.

There's a natural, easy way to free yourself from this terrible scourge, once and forever. By eating regularly a delicious cereal—Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Physicians recommend ALL-BRAN because its action is different from pills and drugs. Ordinary cathartics give only temporary relief, and are often habit-forming.

ALL-BRAN acts naturally, gently. Its roughage sweeps the system clean of poisonous wastes and impurities.

And ALL-BRAN is a great aid to health in other ways. It contains abundant iron which enriches the blood, builds strength and the glowing color of health. With milk or cream—or in fruit juices—it brings important vitamins to the diet.

You'll find the flavor of ALL-BRAN delightful. A crisp, ready-to-eat cereal, with a nut-like flavor.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to keep you free from both temporary and recurring constipation.

Ignoring constipation is like playing with dynamite. Start serving Kellogg's ALL-BRAN now. Sold by all grocers in the red-and-green package. It is served in restaurants, hotels and dining-cars. Ask for it by name.

CHAPTER LIII.

FATIGUE blunted her sensibilities. Alan loved her and it was more than possible that she had killed him by taking him that long journey in the car. She could not even feel anxiety on that score. It was impossible to nurse him. Doctors would not come up-country, so there had been no alternative to taking him down.

Her emotional being was numbed, and her active consciousness saw only the necessity to keep the camp in order and the work going until he could return to take command of it.

She went to the house in Kalamaria, bathed and forced herself to take a meal, then set herself to the task of driving back to the camp. She had no doubt that she would arrive. Her fatigue had passed beyond the immediate want for sleep and she knew that, if need were, she could go on moving and working for several days and nights. For the first time in her life she was drawing on the immense reserves of strength and energy she had built up by years of healthy living.

She reached the shack an hour before dawn and was greeted by Petros who, refusing to sleep, had squatted outside the shack awaiting her return. She was able to feel gratitude for his devotion, but was too ignorant of the customs of the country to attempt to express it. She knew that it would be foolish to lie down, and while Petros prepared her a meal she wrote to Alan.

"Dear Alan, get well as quickly as you can and don't worry about anything. Your plans were successful in every detail. Stephanos and his whole band have been destroyed. With the help of the foremen I shall be able to carry on here until you are fit. I will send a letter down every day by the supply lorries telling you what we are doing. Your—Shirley."

She enclosed it in a covering letter to the hospital authorities, requesting them to give it to Alan as soon as he recovered full consciousness.

It was no idle assurance. While in the camp she had seen something of Alan's organization, his foresight and ability to provide for the possible failure of others. The battle had gone exactly as he had planned it and the work would do the same.

Although he did not know it, Abramov was, in effect, made general manager of the camp. He spoke four languages, like most of the Macedonians above the laboring classes, and possessed English as a fifth. The first day he troubled her little and by the second day she had slept off her fatigue and plunged with full strength into arranging supplies, pay and the details of the work.

Every day she received mythical orders from Alan, which planned overnight, and spent the day in seeing to their execution.

In six days the metals were laid and a short train puffed through the camp laden with stone for completing the last few miles of the track. It was on that day that Roger appeared in the camp.

It was during the last hour of work. Shirley was in the shack, checking quantities, when a laborer brought him in.

For a moment she stared at him helplessly, believing that his appearance was a hallucination.

"Hullo, Shirley!" he said shamefacedly. "I'm sorry to disturb you. I wanted to see Brenaway."

At the sound of his voice, Shirley stiffened and pulled herself together.

"He is not here—he won't be here for a week, perhaps longer," she said coldly. "Why have you come here, Roger?"

Uninvited, he seated himself.

"Can I have a drink, Shirley?"

"You can have lime juice and water if you like. We have no alcohol here."

Roger. "Brenaway offered to take a million and a quarter in shares in return for his half-million—but as even I cannot afford to run the risk of paying back a million and a quarter for the use of a half-million for one year, I thought I would come out and see exactly what is being done with my property."

Shirley was at a loss. She remembered that Alan had written to Roger the day before he went up-country and she had assumed that the whole matter had been arranged.

"I don't follow all this," she said wearily. "You had better go back to Salonika and wait until Alan can see you. He is ill and will not be able to do any business for some little time."

"And has left you in charge, eh?" suggested Roger. "Well,

"Don't forget that we are husband and wife for another couple of months or so."

He made a grimace and took the proffered drink.

"Are you living here with him?"

"You must find it pretty ghastly!" he remarked.

"Will you tell me why you have come, Roger?" she persisted.

"This is a rather chilly reception, my dear," he said ironically.

"Don't forget that we are husband and wife for another couple of months or so. Also—don't forget, please, that I am chief shareholder in Macedonian Developments. That, perhaps, will explain why I have come."

Shirley glared at him. The work was Alan's and hers and to hear him claiming it as his made her angry.

"That isn't true. Alan took the shares from you in return for the money you owe him."

She watched him smile in the way she had detested of old.

"I see he does not take you wholly into his confidence," said

don't think I need trouble him—and I've certainly no desire to spend an unnecessary day in this abominable country. You can tell me all I want to know—which is simply how far you've got towards completing the railway. I understand that is the crux of the whole matter."

"I can't discuss his affairs with you," said Shirley.

"But why not? There is no breach of confidence. His affairs are mine, as far as this company is concerned. It is only a matter of courtesy on your part. I can get an order from the court cancelling the power of attorney I gave him and can then demand to see all the papers and reports."

"An order of the court?" she laughed bitterly. "What use do you think an order of the court would be to you in this camp, Roger?"

Keeping a Lawn

KEEPING a lawn in the highest state of perfection is quite a task.

The first thing to contend with is the habit of many people to shortcut across the grass. This kind of travel, in winter or summer, wears out the grass and makes an actual path through the lawn. The practice of "shortcutting" is especially to be inveighed against when there is generally cement sidewalk for the pedestrian to use, instead of the precious grass footage.

A lawn requires continual attention, for just along the border lurk weed and dandelion seed, tumble weeds, sand burrs, etc. Add to this prowling dogs, the parched heat of the sun and a thousand and one other things and one quickly sees that a perfect lawn is a harder growing proposition than raising gladioli or jonquils.

Down at the National Flower Show ground floor commercial exhibits were many booths devoted solely to the best in lawn culture, preservation and maintenance. A lawn, at any season, wet or dry, is a problem.

To Curb Authority on Rail Merger

THERE has been introduced in Congress a resolution to suspend the authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission to approve railroad consolidations until Congress passes legislation "properly designed to protect the public interest." In the house this resolution was introduced by Congressman Knutson and a similar one was introduced in the senate by Senator Couzens, Republican, of Michigan.

Answering a question off the floor, Congressman Knutson is quoted by the St. Paul Pioneer Press as saying that "the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railroads are parallel and competing lines, and a consolidation would mean curtailment of service and a reduction in the working force and would adversely affect numerous communities now being served by one or both of the companies.

"Any saving would go to the stockholders, rather than to the shippers. In the general debate on the 1920 Transportation Act (as he recalled it), it was the understanding of Congress that parallel and competing lines should not be permitted to consolidate or to form holding companies to pool their interest."

Automobile Accidents

AUTOMOBILE accidents will always be with us. With the car saturation point still far off, there is a new crop of drivers every year. Traffic grows denser and accordingly accidents increase.

The accident record in many industries has decreased, due to the fact that the workers can be educated and there is not a continuous turnover in labor such as occurs among the many new car drivers.

Many a man reviewing his driving experiences, knows he took more chances the first year than any other period, in fact some of his shaves were so close as to make his hair stand up thinking about them.

Last year motor vehicles caused the deaths of 31,500 persons in the United States, a new high record. In deaths, injuries and property damage the record reads like a small war.

Spanish-American War Veterans

CONGRESSMAN HAROLD KNUTSON is working indefatigably in Congress to get consideration of his Spanish war pension bill which provides a general pension increase for Spanish-American war veterans.

This war was of short duration, but Americans engaged in it suffered terribly from disease and wounds.

TOWNS and villages in the Brainerd and Little Falls area will benefit by the new National Guard camp, Brigadier General E. A. Walsh believes. The new camp will include 2,500 acres of land and will replace the one at Lake City. Contracts have been let for the construction of the bridge across the Mississippi at Topeka and the construction of a road from State Trunk Highway No. 27 to the bridge.

PEOPLE who have characterized Chicago and New York as the centers of gang killings and "taking gangsters for a ride," and "putting them on the spot," were surprised to read of a killing in Minneapolis, that included all the gangster earmarks.

A CHICAGO waitress was bequeathed $250,000 by her uncle and has now quit work. She will not make foolish use of the money, but will use it to aid her crippled father, to study English and arithmetic and to start a florist shop.

MRS. ALMA L. GALLINGER of Bemidji is seeking the sheriff's office in Beltrami county. She apparently has a desire to run for office, for she filed for mayor in the last city election in Bemidji.

STATE highway maintenance workers hereafter will attend strictly to their jobs and let the motorist who travels "impassable" marked roads dig out his own car.

A NEW federal prison may be established in Minnesota and the Chamber of Commerce should start working to get this for Brainerd.

THE persons who aren't at home cause the census taker a lot of trouble. You can't count noses when no noses are to be found.

NOTHING like paint to brighten the exterior or interior of a home. Now is the time to hire a painter.

NEAT little castle-like shops sell hamburgers in the cities and give the hot dog a metropolitan setting.

So many prohibition polls are being carried on that the whole subject appears to be losing interest.

NATIONAL LEAGUE PENNANT RACE MAY BE WIDE OPEN ONE

CHICAGO CUBS ARE FAVORED TO REPEAT WIN

SEVERAL OTHER CLUBS CONFIDENT THEY CAN NOSE OUT VICTORY

MAKING FRANTIC EFFORTS TO STRENGTHEN THEIR FORCES

By DIXON STEWART
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, April 11.—Last minute trading activities reflect the National League belief that the 1930 pennant campaign may develop into a wide open race. The Chicago Cubs are favored to repeat their 1929 victory but several clubs are confident they have a chance to nose them out and are making frantic efforts to strengthen forces for the opening of the season.

In the American League no club entertains serious hopes of heading off the Philadelphia Athletics and the various teams appear resolved to get along with the material on hand. No important trades have been made in the league since the close of last season and none are in prospect.

National League teams have been jockeying around throughout the winter to add strength without helping rival contenders and the trading activities broke out anew this week. Wednesday the Boston Braves engineered a deal with the Pirates for Burleigh Grimes, one of the major leagues' most successful pitchers, and yesterday Manager John McGraw of the Giants partially solved his outfield worries by securing Wallie Roettger from the Cardinals.

Baseball men believed Judge Emil Fuchs purchased Grimes as trading material and it is rumored that the big pitcher will go to St. Louis in exchange for several players, including an infielder and a catcher.

Grimes was the ace of the Pirates' pitching staff and his sale appears likely to injure Pittsburgh's chance of leading National League clubs to the wire next September. It is doubtful that any of the other pennant contenders would have relinquished a pitcher of his ability but the deal was in keeping with President Barney Dreyfus' methods of handling players who refuse to accept official dictation.

There is a possibility that Philadelphia may enter into the bidding. Manager Burt Shotton has developed his club from a hopeless tailender into one of the most powerful hitting outfits in organized baseball and with high class pitching the Phils would be a dangerous rival for the Cubs.

Hurst, Thompson, Thevenon and Whitney comprise the most promising young infield in the league and the presence of O'Doul and Klein in the outfield give the Phils a real batting punch. Grover Cleveland Alexander has been added to the pitching staff as coach and relief moundsman.

SAMMY MANDELL MUST FIGHT WITH KING TUT SOON

Chicago, April 11.—(U.P.)—Sammy Mandell must defend his lightweight championship against King Tut, Minneapolis challenger, within a "reasonable time" or run the risk of losing the championship recognition of the National Boxing Association, the Illinois state athletic commission has ruled today. The ruling was made following the receipt of Tut's challenge and a forfeit of $2,500.

NATIONAL BOXING ASSOCIATION IS MAKING PROBE

TO DETERMINE IF CARNERA'S FIGHTS HAVE BEEN OF "DIVE VARIETY"

QUESTIONNAIRES ARE SENT TO COMMISSIONERS IN 14 STATES

Chicago, April 11.—(U.P.)—An investigation into the one and two-round knockout tour of Primo Carnera, Italy, man mountain, has been launched by the National Boxing Association in an attempt to determine if Carnera's fights have been of the "dive variety."

The investigating commission, composed of Secretary Walter Liginger of the Wisconsin athletic commission and Chairman John V. Chinn of the Illinois commission, yesterday sent out questionnaires to commissions in the 14 states in which Carnera has appeared.

The questionnaire requests the commissions to investigate thoroughly whether there were any indications of collusion between Carnera's manager and those of his opponents.

San Francisco, April 11.—Not content with his easy victories over a lot of the ring laddies of the nation, Primo Carnera's managers have invented a new title for the "man mountain" to battle for.

The new title—heavy heavyweight—will be at stake at Los Angeles in June when the Italian meets George Godfrey, huge negro.

Leno See, one of Carnera's managers, announced here last night that his charge has been signed for a ten-round go with Godfrey at Wrigley field for the "heavy heavyweight championship of the world." He said the California athletic commission has approved.

Carnera meets Bombo Chevalier, a negro heavyweight, here on Monday night.

KAYE DON HOPES TO RACE TODAY

TO PUSH HIS "SILVER BULLET" OVER THE DAYTONA BEACH COURSE

Daytona Beach, Fla., April 11.—(U.P.)—Kaye Don, British racing driver, plans to push his slim Sunbeam "Silver Bullet" over the beach course today in another effort to break the automobile speed record set by Sir Henry Segrave.

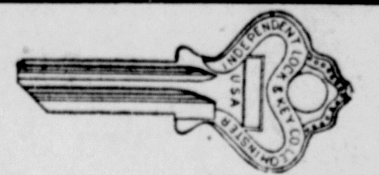

Don said the elements had plotted against him yesterday when he drove the "Silver Bullet" over the course four times, finally being forced to quit by the condition of the beach. His best run was 182.741 miles per hour, approximately 50 miles under the record.

Only stormy weather could prevent his attempt today, he said.

Muroc, Calif., April 11.—Shorty Canton, well known racing driver, today claimed a new world's record for four-cylinder automobiles after sending his Miller Special across a dry lake bed at a speed of 144.985 miles per hour. Canton's time over a four-mile course clocked under A. A. A. supervision lowered the previous mark of 141.736 miles per hour set in 1911 on an eastern straightaway by Bob Burman.

Sport Bughouse Fables

By HARDIN BURNLEY

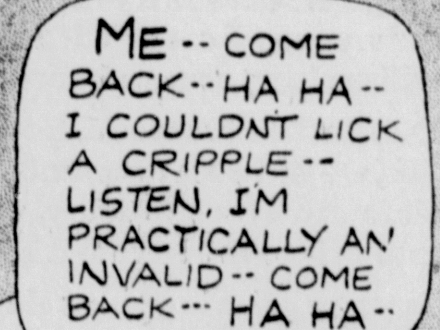

PHIL SCOTT, WHO HAS BEEN CROWNED HEAVYWEIGHT CHAMPION BY PUBLIC ACCLAIM, SUCH POPULARITY MUST BE DESERVED.

IF YOU BELIEVE THESE I'LL TELL YOU SOME MORE.

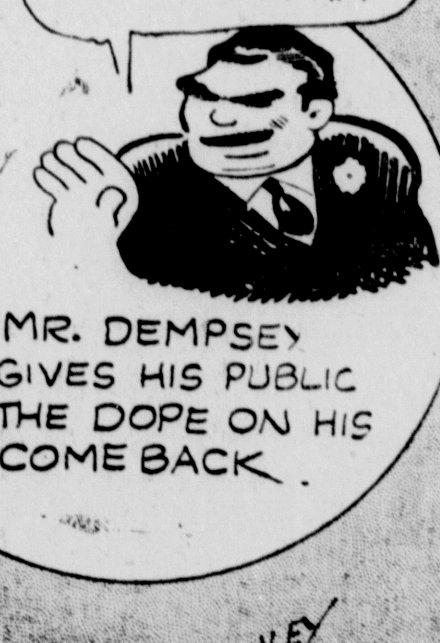

THE SPORT BUG

ME-- COME BACK-- HA HA-- I COULDN'T LICK A CRIPPLE-- LISTEN, I'M PRACTICALLY AN INVALID-- COME BACK-- HA HA--

WE GOT A BUNCH OF BOOBS IN THERE THIS YEAR-- IF WE DON'T FINISH LAST-- IT'LL BE A MIRACLE.

MR. DEMPSEY GIVES HIS PUBLIC THE DOPE ON HIS COME BACK.

THE BASEBALL MGR. MAKES HIS PRE-SEASON STATEMENT.

ONCE upon a time, and it was not so long ago, a real Sport Bug paid $10, or maybe $15, to see Phil Scott win on a foul from Otto Von Porat in the second round at Madison Square Garden. Hardly warmed up, the tall Norwegian let go a wild punch that might have felled a fly off Phil's hip had one been resting there. Scott sank with the anguish of the ages, creaking his erstwhile pallid pan. That low blow seemed light, so Referee Jack Dempsey sought to persuade Phil to continue—but why prolong the agony? The Sport Bug was satisfied when going home, because he had been privileged to witness one of modern boxing's most celebrated scenes: The Swooning Swan of Swat doing his not-so-stupid stuff.

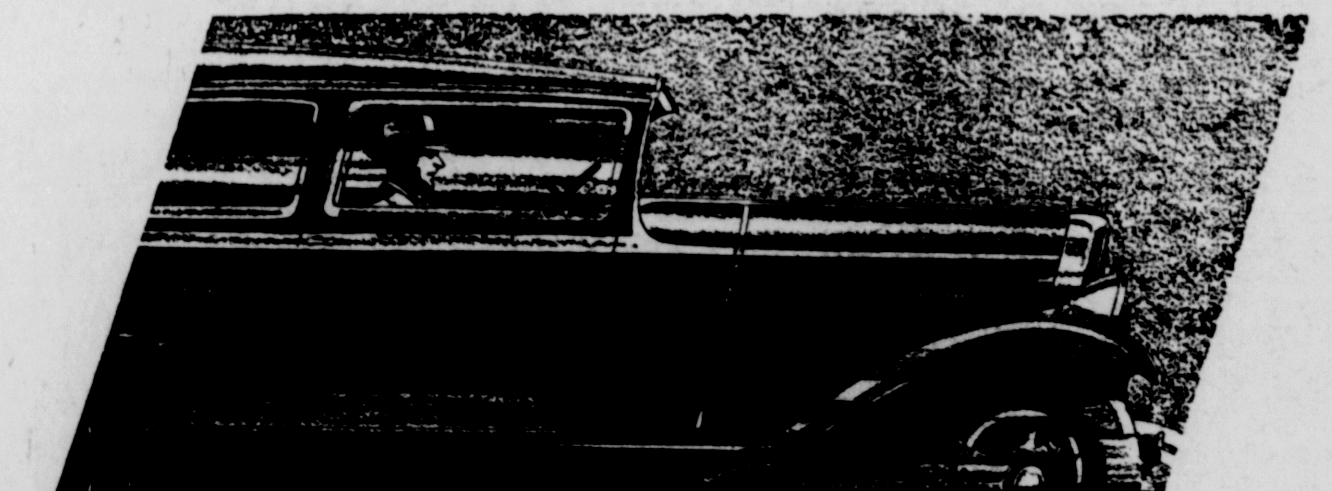

Scott's Von Porat exit was so heart-stirring that the Sport Bug then went all the way to Miami and paid a quarter of a yard ($25) to see Phil pull the same thing with Jack Sharkey in the hip-bruising role. The dear ol' bug got his money's worth—what with the English champ enacting his famous foul scene, the U. S. heavy king emoting tears, and "Lime-light Lou" Magnolia glorifying his favorite role of super referee.

But the Sport Bug had still more fight thrills to enjoy during the 1929-30 fight season. He had been charmed by "The Dying Gladiator" postures of the clever cockney, who might be fouled into the world's championship if there were more Dempseys and fewer Magnolias in referee roles. The Bug has been elated with Von Porat's costly fly-swat, and delighted with the hip-hitting activities of Uncle Sam's leading heavy. And so the hard-to-satisfy Sport Bug thought Winter boxing could provide no greater entertainment (he missed the Tod Morgan-Sammy Bass show, "tank" you) when Primo Carnera (he of the tremendous Tribbles) was freighted to our shores, and the smart boys began to set 'em up for him in boxing bowling alleys throughout our land. The Sport Bug hasn't missed a single one of Carnera's copyrighted slams, slaps or push-overs. And the Bug likes 'em, because the Italian giant has brought something frankly amusing into boxing. His K. O. collection balances the semi-tragic Scott, Sharkey, Von Porat, Campolo, etc., etc., faux pas. Primo is funny even in the surprising comic pictures which he draws. And it's part because "The Man Mountain" has a rough and robust sense of humor, the Sport Bug will not be disappointed if Carnera lunges and laughs his way to the title. As to the moral of such a Sport Bughouse idea, Mr. Gene Tunney might audibly cogitate: "Good gracious!"

High in power—
moderate in weight
--and therefore
SUPERIOR in PERFORMANCE

An 85-horsepower engine makes the New Oakland Eight the highest powered car produced for its weight and size, only racing cars excepted. Because it develops one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight, few cars can match the New Oakland's speed, pick-up and power. This ratio of power to weight accounts for its superior performance. Furthermore, the inherent eight-cylinder smoothness of the power plant is intensified by a complete down-draft fuel system—new type cylinder heads—a short, very rigid crankshaft—and laminated steel spring and rubber engine supports. . . . The New Oakland Eight is also very economical to own. Its gasoline mileage equals that of many sixes of comparable size. Its sound basic design assures dependability and long service. And the extreme accessibility of its parts keeps maintenance costs at the minimum. . . . Come in and see this car with smartly tailored bodies by Fisher. It will convince you that you can now own an exceptionally fine eight at a very moderate price.

KAYE DON HOPES TO RACE TODAY

TO PUSH HIS "SILVER BULLET" OVER THE DAYTONA BEACH COURSE

Daytona Beach, Fla., April 11.—(U.P.)—Kaye Don, British racing driver, plans to push his slim Sunbeam "Silver Bullet" over the beach course today in another effort to break the automobile speed record set by Sir Henry Segrave.

Don said the elements had plotted against him yesterday when he drove the "Silver Bullet" over the course four times, finally being forced to quit by the condition of the beach. His best run was 182.741 miles per hour, approximately 50 miles under the record.

Only stormy weather could prevent his attempt today, he said.

Muroc, Calif., April 11.—Shorty Canton, well known racing driver, today claimed a new world's record for four-cylinder automobiles after sending his Miller Special across a dry lake bed at a speed of 144.985 miles per hour. Canton's time over a four-mile course clocked under A. A. A. supervision lowered the previous mark of 141.736 miles per hour set in 1911 on an eastern straightaway by Bob Burman.

Sport Bughouse Fables

By HARDIN BURNLEY

ONCE upon a time, and it was not so long ago, a real Sport Bug paid $10, or maybe $15, to see Phil Scott win on a foul from Otto Von Porat in the second round at Madison Square Garden. Hardly warmed up, the tall Norwegian let go a wild punch that might have felled a fly off Phil's hip had one been resting there. Scott sank with the anguish of the ages ceasing his erstwhile pallid pan. That low blow seemed light, so Referee Jack Dempsey sought to persuade Phil to continue—but why prolong the agony? The Sport Bug was satisfied when going home, because he had been privileged to witness one of modern boxing's most celebrated scenes: The Swooning Swan of Swat. The Von Porat exit was so heart-stirring that the Sport Bug then went all the way to Miami and paid a quarter of a yard ($25) to see Phil pull the same thing with Jack Sharkey in the hip-bruising round. The dear ol' bug got his money's worth—what with the English champ enacting his famous foul scene, the U. S. heavy king emoting tears, and "Lime-light Lou" Magnolia glorifying his favorite role of super referee. But the Sport Bug had still more fight thrills to enjoy during the 1929-30 fight season. He had been charmed by "The Dying Gladiator" postures of the clever cockney, who might be fouled into the world's championship if there were more Dempseys and fewer Magnolias in referee roles. The Bug has been elated with Von Porat's costly fly-swat, and delighted with the hip-hitting activities of Uncle Sam's leading heavy. And so the hard-to-satisfy Sport Bug thought Winter boxing could provide no greater entertainment (he missed the Tod Morgan-Sam-

SUPERIOR in PERFORMANCE

An 85-horsepower engine makes the New Oakland Eight the highest powered car produced for its weight and size, only racing cars excepted. Because it develops one horsepower to 37 pounds of car weight, few cars can match the New Oakland's speed, pick-up and power. This ratio of power to weight accounts for its superior performance. Furthermore, the inherent eight-cylinder smoothness of the power plant is intensified by a complete down-draft fuel system—new type cylinder heads—a short, very rigid crankshaft—and laminated steel spring and rubber engine supports. The New Oakland Eight is also very economical to own. Its gasoline mileage equals that of many sizes of comparable size. Its sound basic design assures dependability and long service. And the extreme accessibility of its parts keeps maintenance costs at the minimum. . . . Come in and see this car with smartly tailored bodies by Fisher. It will convince you that you can now own an exceptionally fine eight at a very moderate price.

The New Oakland Eight, $1045 and up, f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Lovejoy Hydraulic Shock Absorbers included in list prices. Bumpers, rear fender guards and spring covers extra. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.
